New Book Provides Hope for Mothers of Emotionally Troubled Teenage Girls

Lost, Found and Forgiven: How One Mother Prevailed Against Teenage Rage and Brought Her Daughter Home Again. Published by BookSurge LLC and now available at Amazon.com. ©2007 Lisa Marie Jackson.

Lincoln University, PA, November 1, 2007: Inspired by her daughter's courage in overcoming severe behavioral, emotional and substance abuse problems, aspiring therapist Lisa Marie Jackson has written Lost, Found and Forgiven, an intensely private and intimate account of their painful and life-changing experience. Lisa's honest and engaging narrative delivers a message of unrelenting hope and perseverance to other mothers as they encounter similar rebelliousness and dangerous behavior from their daughters. At every step, key issues and strategies are discussed to get inside the minds of mother and daughter alike and describe what worked, what didn't, and why. This book, written in layman's terms, arms mothers with inside information to recognize when a child's behavior is moving beyond teenage rebellion toward a more serious, even criminal element. It is now available in both hard cover and paperback editions through BookSurge LTD and Amazon.com.

Background and Author Biography: Lisa Marie Jackson is the mother of two children and has been married to her high school sweetheart for thirty years. She earned her undergraduate BA degree from Syracuse University, later graduating magna cum laude with an MBA, and is currently president and CEO of a commercial credit union. She will attain her Masters Degree in Counseling (MAC/EdS) from Seton Hall University in 2008 and licensure as a licensed professional counselor (LPC) in 2009/10.

Lisa founded the Embrace Fellowship (www.EmbraceFellowship.com) to provide a place where mothers of emotionally troubled and self destructive children could share their pain and get support from other mothers in similar situations. In the future, it will encompass a confidential worldwide web network for sharing information and strategies; an individual and family therapy practice with innovative approaches to counseling such as video-conferenced counseling; and retreats at the secluded Adirondack Mountainview Lodge in upstate New York to reconnect mothers and their daughters in a deep, meaningful and nurturing way. Lost, Found and Forgiven is Lisa's foundational publication and lays out her approach to dealing with these extraordinarily complex family situations.
